

ACL Notes:

- Notes: 1. The ACL Series are designed with heavy duty construction to remove an extreme amount of heat in a compact design for indoor and outdoor application
2. Servicable core, cover can be easily removed to have access to the tubes for service if required
3. Will provide a detailed drawing and motor data based on the required application
4. Units are available in a single pass, two pass or three pass based on the required application
5. They are available in male and female, code 61 four bolt flange and ansi flange
6. Can be built in ASME code and certified